Top pecs Taiwan Gay Pride

Taipei's Pride, Asia's largest festival of its kind, is expecting record numbers this month. Liberal Asians will also be watching to see if the island's leader, president Tsai Ing-wen, can deliver on her pledge to support marriage equality. If nothing else, it has established its position as the region's leading gay-weekend getaway destination.

Business insider: are the French in gear?

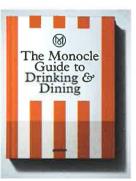

There are some notable absences in Paris this year: Aston Martin, Bugatti and Chevrolet to name but three. This is a chance for France's own lower-key marques to steal the show; our eye will be on Citroën's quirky new C3.

Being a mayor: the inside line

"You have to take in everything from a bird's-eve view but also from the viewpoint of a bug. And you have to keep tabs on trends, the way a fish knows the river currents. You need to come up with a list of priorities and then tackle them. But the most important thing is to have a vision of what you want to do."

AND FINALLY...
OUR NEW BOOK

We're all for enterprising new restaurants but aren't openings from LA to Paris starting to look a tad samey? Edison bulbs, reclaimed-brick walls and polished concrete floors make for deafeningly loud environments too. For fresh inspiration, get The Monocle Guide to Drinking & Dining, on sale from 29 September.
